

Thomson scattering system

The Thomson scattering system measures the spatial profiles of temperature and density on TCV. It is based on the incoherent scattering from electrons